

FORMULA WHEN THERE ARE ALLERGIES

If you know that your baby is prone to allergies, you should not take any risks with its formula. If you're unable to breastfeed or if you don't have enough milk of your own, the alternative from the very first bottle is: HA Formula. HA is the abbreviation for hypoallergenic. Humana supplies you with a complete HA programme for a low-allergen diet, which has been developed especially for newborns with an increased risk of allergies. Our HA products contain high-quality milk protein that has been broken down in a careful procedure into smaller protein components. As a result of this preliminary treatment, the protein fragments are less likely to be identified as foreign protein by your baby's organism, which in turn considerably reduces the effect that triggers allergies. You can rest your mind at ease: your child will get all the vital nutrients – and without allergic reaction.
